How can i do that with objective-c? A: stringValue = [stringValue stringByAppendingString:@"10"]; A: You could use the instance method +stringByAppendingString: or +stringByAppendingFormat: to achieve this, but a better option is to use the copy property of NSString. My guess is that you have a property on your class that stores the value, so you can add +10 to its value like so: self.value = self.value + 10; A: [@"String String String" stringByAppendingString:@"String"]; You can add to this value even in Objective-C. if ([message length] > 0) { NSString *newMessage = [[NSString alloc] initWithFormat: @"%@ %@ %@", lastMessage, @" was", @" time : %d", t + 1]; [self.messages addObject:newMessage]; [newMessage release]; } Signed, Sealed, Delivered (film) Signed, Sealed, Delivered (Original title: Enn deh eea-seyt). is an Azerbaijani crime-comedy film that was released in 2005.
